

ARBUCKLE CHEERFUL AS DEFENCE SCORES

Closing of His Case Is Expected To-morrow, Counsel Announces.

DEPOSITIONS OPENED

More Witnesses Testify to Miss Rappe's Habit of Tearing Clothes.

OFTEN DRANK LIQUOR

Film Actor Describes Party at Own Home, Where She Brought Gin.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Roscoe Arbuckle was on hand early for his trial to-day, smoking personally rolled cigarettes and apparently in good spirits. The victories which his attorneys won yesterday undoubtedly had cheered him.

Gavin McNab, Arbuckle's chief counsel, announced at the opening of court that the defence expects to close its case on Monday.

At Mr. McNab's request depositions taken in Chicago and New York were unsealed in open court, but were not then read.

Harry B. Barker of San Francisco and Gary, Ind., Mrs. Virginia Rappe's "old sweetheart," was called for cross-examination. He testified that on several occasions when he saw Miss Rappe become hysterical and tear her clothing she had partaken of liquor in small quantities.

"She had one attack after dinner in Reector's cafe in Chicago," he said. "Virginia and I were dining together. It was about 7:30 P. M. She drank gin and orange juice."

"Another attack occurred at South Haven, Mich. Her grandmother was with us at the summer resort there. I had not seen her drink anything."

"In Chicago I frequently took her to dinner. She often drank liquor at these dinners. I took her several times to the Bismarck Gardens in Chicago."

He was asked if he took her, with a Mrs. Katherine Fox of Chicago and a "gentleman from Australia" to the Bismarck Gardens in 1921.

"I don't remember," he said. "I tried to keep Virginia from drinking," he said when asked if he had refused to permit Virginia to drink at that party.

In answer to a question as to his visits to cafes with Miss Rappe, he said he had taken her "hundreds of times." He denied he had been engaged to Miss Rappe and that she had terminated the engagement.

Reverting to the question of liquor he said he could not remember any Chicago cafe refusing to serve Miss Rappe liquor.

Philo McCullough, film actor from Los Angeles, described a party at his home in Hollywood two years ago.

"Miss Rappe was there," he said. "She brought liquor herself. It was sin. She drank some and became noisy. Some one remarked that they liked her garters."

"She said: 'Do you like them?' and tore off her socks. Then she tore off her waist. A woman pinned it on and then she put on her coat and went home."

On cross-examination, McCullough testified that "many times" he had been Arbuckle's guest at the comedian's home. "The last time was two or three months ago," he said.

Charles Stephenson, a native of New York, whose home is now in Toronto. They reached London yesterday after seven weeks' campaigning on the Meilla front.

Among those left behind in the Spanish camp, they said, are C. B. Moyd of 207 West Washington street, Petersburg, Va., who is under 17 years of age; Benjamin Margolis of Boston, who was wounded on the Tetuan front, and George Corbett of 6509 Bay Parkway, Brooklyn, who paid his own fare from America when he joined the Spanish troops. They are all now destitute, they said.

Brown and Stephenson confirmed earlier stories of hardships and cruel treatment at the hands of Spanish officers. They said they participated in eleven battles, between September 17 and November 4, including those of Mount Gourougon, Nador, Zeuluan and Mount Arruit.

Of their group, they said four had been killed and twenty-two wounded. Being unable to understand the Spanish commands led them to much ill treatment, they said. On one occasion, they said, they were beaten and sentenced to the hard labor squad. At another time they were sent to the front with their arms tied behind their backs as punishment for trying to procure medicine at Meilla.

The Americans here are being cared for by the British Legion and the Y. M. C. A.

MADRID, Nov. 27 (Associated Press).—Capt. Gen. Primo de Rivera of Madrid was dismissed from that office today at a meeting of the Cabinet as the result of an address he made in the Senate yesterday in which he expressed belief that North Africa had no military value from the Spanish viewpoint and that Spain must abandon Morocco. Gen. Orozco was appointed to succeed him.

Lambert Brothers

Makers of Fine Jewelry

LAMBERT BROS.' customers who expect to have jewelry remounted before the holidays should remember that it takes time to rebuild even a simple ornament; that large, ornate designs cannot be hurried through, and that the matching of diamonds is a delicate operation.

LAMBERT BROS. never keep a customer waiting if it is humanly possible to accomplish the work set for their expert workmen within a specified time. But they refuse to disappoint their purchasers in the quality of their jewelry by ornaments that have been hastily put together.

Old-fashioned Jewelry Modernized

SUDDENLY to become the possessor of a magnificent ornament at a comparatively small outlay is what happens to you if your old-fashioned brooches, earrings, or rings are remounted by Lambert Brothers. These discarded bits are assembled into an ornament "fit for a queen." The price of remounting is a mere bagatelle compared with the rich beauty of the achievement. The work, all carefully supervised, is done in Lambert Brothers' factory on the premises.

The Lambert Store is open daily from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M.

Open Saturdays in December Until 9 P. M.
